The education you want, when you want it

This 18-credit Reading Teacher Licensure program is offered 100% online in 7-week semesters that begin 6 times per year. There are 25 hours of required field placement work in different grades. Those in the program can earn their license in as few as three semesters.

The Marian difference

Leading to a Wisconsin Reading Teacher No. 316 License, you will learn the skills and knowledge needed to become eligible to teach reading in grades PK–12. Taught by knowledgeable and experienced faculty members, the curriculum places an emphasis upon research-based instructional strategies and explores the theoretical models of literacy as a means for shaping and transmitting culture. You'll develop critical thinking skills and experience an overview of reading assessment theory, materials, and procedures as well as the application of assessment for reading instruction.

The program includes alignment with ELA and the National Standards for ELA as well as the InTASC and ISTE teacher standards.
